THE FISHERIES AWARD.

OFFICIAL COMMUNICATIONS TO CONGRESS.

President Hayes transmitted to Congress recently a message and a communication from Secretary Evarts on the fishery award. The President says:

"Article 22 of the treaty provides that any sum of money which the Commissioners may award shall be paid by the United States government in a gross sum within twelve months after such award shall have been given. The Commission announced the result of its deliberations on the 23d day of November last year, and an appropriation at the present session of Congress will be necessary to enable the government to make the payments provided in the treaty. I respectfully submit to the consideration of Congress the record of the transaction as presented upon the papers and recommend the appropriation of the necessary sum, with such direction to the Executive in regard to its payment as in the wisdom of Congress the public interests may seem to require."

Secretary Evarts, referring to the criticism that has been made of the conduct of the American case, says:

"I applied in person in behalf of the United States to the Commissioners, and in writing, for the production of all documents and papers which they deemed necessary to the proper consideration of the case, and I am quite sure the ability, fidelity, vigilance and circumspection shown by Mr. Foster himself, in the preparation of the objection and the enforcement of the case of the United States will receive the full and ample approval of all departments of the government that shall have occasion to give the subject any consideration."

In regard to the failure of all the arbitrators to agree to the award, after setting forth the official protest of the American Commissioner calling in question the competency of the board to make any but a unanimous award under the treaty, and after quoting also the opinion of the London Times of July 1, 1877, that on every point coming before the Commission the decision must, by the terms of the treaty, be unanimous, Secretary Evarts says:

"In this country no public discussion on the point seems to have arisen until since the conclusion of the labors of the Commission. It will be quite competent for Congress in considering an appropriation to meet the proper obligations of the government under the treaty, to waive or to insist upon this objection to the validity of the award of the Commission for non-conformity to the requirements of the treaty. In the absence of any declaration by Congress adverse to the validity of the award, it would not be the duty of the Executive to raise any discussion with the British government upon this point. If, on the other hand, Congress should accompany the appropriation with an expression of opinion that the attention of the British government should be drawn to the subject, the actual payment of the award might, so far as this point is concerned, well be made to depend upon the view which that government should entertain. As to the meaning of the treaty in this regard, I think it may be assumed that neither the people of this country, nor any branch of this government, will desire to seek exemption from a money payment upon any judgment of its own upon a point of this nature under this beneficent treaty, unless it may be so well founded as to secure the concurrence of the other high contracting party."

The Secretary cites proofs to show that the award is exorbitant, and then says:

"The result, however, of my examination of the case satisfies me that the two Commissioners must have taken into account some very indefinite and quite illusory elements of calculation wholly outside of the narrow submission of the treaty, in order to bring out the weighty balances of advantage to the United States which their award expresses. As the Commissioners have given no information as to the steps or methods of calculation respecting either of the privileges which are to be measured and compared by them which led to the award they have made, I am unable to correct my own views of the evidence by any instructions from that source.

"It will be for Congress to determine in making an appropriation to meet the proper obligations of the government under the treaty, whether the question of the non-conformity of the award to the submission should be presented to the attention of the British government, and be made the subject of consideration between the two governments. The question between the countries is of much more serious import than the present money payment involved. The subject of validation will remain as an occasion of controversy after the brief treaty-period covered by this award has expired. Seven years since, if no final negotiation shall by such time have extinguished it, is the opportunity for embrage and misunderstanding between the two countries, the subject of the inshore fisheries will again vex the parliaments of the governments and disturb their relations. The mischief of an extravagant and inexplicable measure of value, if acquiesced in by a payment of this award without an absolute and firm protest against its character of the privilege involved, will then present itself, and may grow into an unmanageable element in future treatment of the subject in the interest of justice and peace. By article 22 of the treaty the award is made payable within twelve months after it shall have been given—that is, on or before the 23d day of November in the present year. While the appropriation by Congress will need to be made at the present session, there will be abundant time before the expiration of the year to bring to the attention of the British government the sentiments of this government as they shall be expressed by Congress on the subject of the award and its payment, and the measure of value of the fishery privilege involved therein."

Potato bugs in large numbers in Staten Island have ruined many potato fields. Farmers say that the bugs are on the surface of the ground and destroy sprouts as soon as they come up. In some sections the farmers are preparing to plant corn where the potato vines were destroyed.

The Springfield Republican notices the fact that there is just now a considerable demand for good farms, at prices ranging from $2,000 to $10,000, although the bulk of sales average about $3,000. A large number of sales are made to men who have hitherto been mechanics or small business men, and wish to try something else. One agency in that city has sold seven such farms in the last ten days.

A lad by the name of Huntington, living at Lewiston, was playing with a sausage machine a few days since, when the second finger of his right hand was caught and so torn that it was necessary to amputate it.

The Journal says: We alluded a few days since to the poisoning of several persons on the Hill in consequence of eating herring, as is now supposed. It turns out half a dozen other persons have been poisoned in this city within the past ten days, all of whom trace their poisoning to herring which they had eaten. It is said St. John's herring are dipped in a solution of arsenic to make them look brighter. One person narrowly escaped death and several are still ill in consequence of the herring poison.

The Argus says that Monday evening the committee on the Fourth of July celebration met, their final meeting, and made up their report to be presented at the meeting of the City Council next Monday. It was voted to ask an appropriation of $2,000, which the committee think will be amply sufficient to cover the expenses of carrying out the proposed programme.

The Press says that merchants in Portsmouth and vicinity are now receiving corn from the West by way of Ogdensburg. The corn comes to Ogdensburg and thence by the new connecting of the P. & O. and the P., G. F. & C. Railroads.

The house, barn and stable of Samuel Pitts of South Harrison, were burned Friday evening, May 24th. The fire originated from a defective stove funnel, where it entered the chimney. A part of his furniture and farming tools were saved. Loss about $1500; insured for $1000.

The Press says that at West Gorham during the shower of Sunday afternoon Whitman Leslie's paint shop was blown down, and three carriages in it were demolished. The storm was very severe at North Windham. Considerable damage was done to the foliage and fruit blossoms. The hail was so thick that in some places it could be scooped up by the quart.

The Argus says that Mr. Stephen Perkins' family, of Gorham, are all sick with the diphtheria. One died Monday morning and two others are not expected to live.

The Rolling Mills of Portland are manufacturing railroad spikes at the rate of two tons a day.

Monday Deputy Marshal Black and officer Hanson, of Portland, arrested a man at Gorham's Corner who was decidedly drunk. The man was freely displaying some $1,000 in bill, and his handsome gold watch and chain. It appears that he is a dry goods peddler and resides in Portland.

The Cumberland Centre Farmers' Club offer a premium for the best one half acre of Indian corn raised in the towns of Cumberland, Yarmouth, North Yarmouth, or Falmouth. They also offer special purses for the best trotting horses owned in those towns, to be competed for by horses owned in those towns only, with a sweepstakes purse open to the winning horse of each town, or to be trotted for on the last day of the fair.

Hancock.

The Press says that the Collins Granite Company loaded four carloads of stone at the quarries at East Bucksport, last week, for New York. They have a large contract for furnishing granite for the approaches of the New York and Brooklyn bridge. They employ about 200 men, and are said to have a very profitable job.

Kennebec.

The Journal says that diphtheria has broken out at Leeds.

The Journal says that the Law Court for the middle district convened at Augusta, Tuesday A. M. All the Judges were present except Walton and Barrows. The court is held for the Middle district, composed of the counties of Somerset, Knox, Lincoln, Sagadahoc and Kennebec. It is not anticipated that any pass of much public interest will be presented for argument. Perhaps the original cases State vs. Charles H. Gilman, and State vs. James E. Savage furnished by Kennebec, are as important as any.

Washington.

The Machias Republican says of Pembroke, the iron works are running several furnaces, and the nail factory is in successful operation, employing quite a number of men.

NEW MAGAZINES.

A notable feature in the June SCRIBNER is the resumption by W. J. Linton of the recent controversy in the New York papers over the question whether an engraver should be called an artist. Mr. Russell Sturgis, a connoisseur in engravings and etchings, writes concerning the work of George Cruikshank, with over twenty illustrations of his various styles and subjects, selected from Mr. Sturgis' large Cruikshank collection. The services of Mr. Marshall and Mr. Cole are enlisted to engrave Mr. Riordan's drawings which accompany Dr. Brewer's second paper on Bird-Architecture, which is devoted to the weaver-birds, including an account of an oriole with two wives. One of the cuts exhibits this unique and happy family at home. That Same Old Coon, by Frank R. Stockton, plays several characters, being a story of Virginia life,—a study in two kinds of dialect, illustrated with a number of pictures by Mr. W. L. Sheppard. The story of Lesbos, by Miss Anna Eichberg, finds its hero in a musician of Wallack's Theater and its scene in Holland, and is illustrated in silhouette by Howard Pyle. Misery's Fear-Tree, a translation of a Flemish legend by Dr. W. Nichols, has two sketches by Charles F. McKim, the architect. The Eleventh Hour, a story, by Emma Lazarus and the two serials Roxy, and His Inheritance, complete the fiction of the number. Other papers are: A New American Industry, by Charles Barnard, descriptive of fruit-evaporating; A White Day and a Red Fox, by John Burroughs; and Lying as a Fine Art, by W. L. Kingsley of The New Englander, who examines the claims of Rev. Samuel Peters as an artist, basing them upon his "History of Connecticut," from which curious extracts are given. According to Mr. Kingsley, Peters is the chief authority for the popular misconception of the so-called Blue Laws of Connecticut. Mrs. Platt, Edward King, Caroline A. Mason, Maurice F. Egan, and others contribute the poetry of the number.

ST. NICHOLAS for June opens with a striking frontispiece, drawn by J. E. Kelly depicting the brave deed of a girl in saving a blind man from being run over. The first story in the number is a short brisk one by Sarah Winter Kellogg, illustrated by Sol. Eytinge. It is called One Saturday, and tells of the pranks, and jokes, and mishaps of eight lively boys and girls on a picnic by themselves. Next comes a funny account of the adventures of Mrs. Peter Piper's Pickles, with laughter-moving illustrations by F. S. Church. One great feature of the number is the opening of the new serial story for boys, Dab Kinzer by William O. Stoddard. There are four chapters, with two pictures by H. F. Fullerton. Miss Alcott's serial, Under the Lilacs, has a long and very interesting instalment, treating of bare-back rides and other moving incidents. Mr. C. C. Hazlitt tells in a pleasant way the story of a Mexican emperor, under the title, Master Montezuma, and with the aid of nine illustrations copied from various old Mexican hieroglyphics. Holland, with its fire-women, candle, wind-mills and other characteristics, comes in for a share of attention in M. A. Edward's short illustrated story, The Little Red Canal-boat. A clearly written paper, with illustrations, instructs boys and girls how to make working telephones for themselves, and explains Edison's speaking phonograph. Studious youngsters will find in the third article of the series "Crumbs for Older Readers," a pleasant introduction to Thos. Carlyle, from the pen of Julia E. Sargent. The five poems of the number include A Triumph, by Celia Thaxter, and How Willy Wolly went a-fishing, by S. C. Stone, the latter illustrated with three capital silhouettes by Howard Pyle.

NEW PUBLICATIONS.

THE VAGARIES OF A JOURNALIST. We have received a finely gotten up volume, by W. L. Alden, which bears the above title, and at first glance it might seem to be a work specially for the guild, but on the contrary this is for everybody. It contains an hundred and more "sixth column fancies" from the New York Times and as there is a single laugh left in a man some of these "fancies" will cause it to rise. The book is a capital one to relieve the tedium of a railway ride or a rainy afternoon in doors. R. Worthington, Publisher, 750 Broadway, N. Y.

FANTASY AND PASSION. This volume of poems by Edgar Fawcett, possesses in a measure the poet's passion, that regret of life, and some passages are beautiful in thought and expression yet as a whole the table is long for the quality of verse. In some of the poems the idea is lumbered, so to speak, with words, in others here is a dearth of them, yet the book has many merits and a careful reading develops them. Robert Brothers, Publishers, Boston. For sale at Bagley's.

A correspondent of the N. Y. Tribune gives his method of managing strawberry beds, as follows:

Lay a board, say twelve inches or more wide, on the edge of your bed, and set the plants along by the edge of the yard, then put down another board, so that to edge will be two inches from the plant row; now set another row along the opposite edge of the board. So continue until the bed is completed. The advantages are: No hoeing; runners cannot reach between the rows; herbs always clean from dirt; the earth under the boards gather food to feed the plants; the roots always kept moist, etc. When you desire to renew the bed, instead of spading it up, after a crop has been harvested, remove the boards and allow the vines to run over the space formerly occupied, by the boards and the next spring re lace the boards by putting them directly on the row of old vines with a space between as in first setting, and you will have an annual crop with but little trouble.

Many farmers in Rutland county, Vt. have decided to devote but little land to potatoes this season, as they fear the ravages of the potato bug which has already put in an appearance.

MEMORIAL DAY.

It seems to us that there is an even deeper significance in the observances of this day in honor of the Nation's Dead, than in any of the previous annual tributes to the heroic sacrifices made for the Union and for the great principles of Liberty and Justice. It seems so to us, because of the recent manifestations of a disposition in unexpected quarters, to complain of a too vivid remembrance of the loyal devotion which preserved the Republic, and to obliterate the sharp distinction between battling to save the life of the Nation and fighting to destroy it.

We can but think that the events which are transpiring at this time and events which are foreshadowed too plainly to be ignored, render it peculiarly fitting that the people give serious thought to the terrible lessons of the past, which are so conspicuously marked by the monuments above our honored dead, and that all patriotic citizens should recall the pledges so freely given to maintain the sacred principles for which the flower of our land offered up their lives.

A Nation that forgets to honor its heroes who have fallen in its defence and in the championship of the grandest truths ever declared by the organic laws of a free people, would ill deserve to reap the precious fruits of such noble sacrifices; and it is well for those who survived the great struggle with rebellion, to stand uncovered in the presence of the graves of those who laid down life itself upon the altar of patriotism, and remember what was involved in that terrific contest, and the obligations resting upon those to whom these heroes have left their legacy of glorious achievement and their injunction to maintain the cause for which they fell.

The fifteen rapid years which have fled since that impressive scene on the battle-field of Gettysburg, have but added to the potency and pathos of the solemn words there uttered by the Great President who so soon became himself a martyr in the cause he so faithfully served and we can offer no sentiments more fitting to-day, than those which come with the eloquence of inspiration from Abraham Lincoln's lips:

"Four score and seven years ago our Fathers brought forth upon this continent a new nation, conceived in liberty and dedicated to the proposition that all men are created equal. Now we are engaged in a great civil war, testing whether that nation, or any nation so conceived and so dedicated, can long endure. We are met on a great battle-field of that war. We have come to dedicate a portion of that field as a final resting place for those who here gave their lives that that nation might live. It is altogether fitting and proper that we should do this. But in a larger sense we cannot dedicate, we cannot consecrate, we cannot hallow this ground. The brave men, living and dead, who struggled here, have consecrated it far above our power to add or detract.

The world will little note, nor long remember, what we say here; but it can never forget what they did here. It is for us, the living, rather to be dedicated here to the unfinished work which they who fought here have thus far so nobly advanced. It is rather for us to be here dedicated to the great task remaining before us; that from these honored dead we take increased devotion to that cause for which they gave the last full measure of devotion; that we here highly resolve that these dead shall not have died in vain; that this Nation, under God, will have a new birth of freedom; and that government of the people, by the people and for the people shall not perish from the earth."

THE CONFEDERATE ASSAULT ON THE 'ARCTIC'

[From the Boston Traveller.]

The South will never quite forget that little historical event which occurred at Appomattox Court-House on the 10th of May, 1865, and proved to be the closing scene of secession; nor will it ever be able to forgive General Grant for the part he took therein. All through his administration Southern men could not wholly conceal their rancor toward the one who led the Northern armies to victory, as was evidenced by the virulent and abusive attack which were constantly made upon him by the Northern Democrats, who was but willing too, in the hands of the astute Southern politician. Since the war, no Grant alone but every officer who won distinction under the stars and stripes has been singled out and made the target for southern venom whenever an opportunity has been offered to strike back. Since the Democrats have gained control of the House the Southerners have been more open in their attacks, and have even struck at the army, against which they charge a special hatred as the nucleus around which the forces of the North assemble at the call of President Lincoln. Sunset Cox, Banning of Ohio, and Hewitt have been the instruments most frequently employed by the skilled hand of the Southern leader, while the moves have in every instance been adroitly concealed under a pretence of economy, which, upon the face, shows that it is the merest claptrap that has ever been brought out and made to do service as a party slogan. It is not an honest effort toward economy. The object is too evident. These men don't care a snap for economy, but they do care to punish the army, and they are clouding their real designs under a sham effort for retrenchment in order to put the knife under the fifth rib of the land arm of the public service. Their endeavors in this direction have been highly interesting for the past year or two. One noticeable thing in this connection is their increasing boldness. They have now thrown off all disguise, and ordering their underlings like Hewitt out of the way, advance with the old plantation swagger and insolence to the attack.

In the House on Saturday, Mr. Reagan of Texas, moved to amend the section upon the pay of officers by reducing the amounts. His proposition embraced the reduction of the pay of General Sherman from $13,500 to $10,000, and of Lieutenant-General Sheridan from $11,000 to $8,000. Their pay is undoubtedly high, but their distinguished services entitle them to the salaries which they draw, and the people, who are heartily sick of this feigned economy, remembering their records, are only too glad to give it. The effort to reduce the salaries of such men as Sherman and Sheridan, who gave the best years of their life to the endeavor to preserve the Union, comes with little grace from a man who turned traitor to his flag and became one of the cabinet of Jefferson Davis, which with a Servilian cunning and cruelty, compared with which the atrocities of the modern Bashi-Bazouk are but the mere child's play, with an inhuman barbarity which has not been equalled in the annals of any war in ancient or modern times, deliberately planned the starvation of the brave comrades of the men who form the regular army, and who with their commanders are now the special objects of Southern malice.

Mr. Reagan's motion but confirms the suspicion that all this pretended retrenchment is in reality a blow at the army for the part it took in the war. If Southerners and Democrats mean what they say, why don't they give the country an example by throwing cant aside and reducing their own salaries? That would be economy to some purpose, and would inspire a confidence in the statements of their leaders, which just now is woefully wanting in the Democratic ranks. But a reduction of their own salaries will never be seriously entertained by the Southern leaders. They desire retrenchment, and are willing to cut down the army, much on the same principle as Artemus Ward desired the success of the Northern cause and was willing to sacrifice all of his wife's relations. Mr. Reagan claims that the salaries of Congressmen cannot be reduced, because they have such high and important duties to perform, and their votes and acts touch such vital interests. We beg to remark that General Sherman and General Sheridan once had high and important duties to perform while "marching through Georgia" and conducting the spirited campaign in the valley of the Shenandoah, as high and important perhaps as any the Honorable Texan was performing at about that time, or in fact ever, had to perform, and services too touching all vital interests.

NO THEY MEAN REVOLUTION!

[From the N. Y. Tribune.]

There is no need to get excited over the present political outlook and the possibility of an attempt at revolution. The Tribune is very far from desiring to excite groundless apprehensions or unnecessary alarm. But it is quite as possible to err in the opposite as in this direction, by closing our eyes to the inexorable logic of events. It may be that the calm and serene people who laugh at the absurdity of the idea that revolutionary purposes are seriously entertained by anybody of any consequence, are as far wrong in their confident sense of security, as the nervous persons who excite their mirth by what seem to be causeless and visionary fears. It is a good thing to have faith in the people and in the Government; in the loyalty of one and the strength and stability of the other; and to estimate at their proper weight and value the vaporings and threats of unscrupulous politicians and disreputable newspapers. But it is well to remember, also, that we have had one attempt at revolution, and that it burst upon us at a time when many public men, equally sagacious and far-sighted with those who are contemplating the present aspect of affairs with such serenity, were equally confident that the danger then talked of was imaginary, and that no real peril existed. We should be weak indeed if the experience of those costly years from 1861 to 1865 had left us exposed to the constant terror of its repetition. We have shown already, by our restoration to full citizenship of those who undertook that enterprise, the courage of confidence coupled with the magnanimity of free, full pardon. But we should show greater weakness did we forget the experience or fail to profit in a sensible, reasonable way by its lesson. Let us remember, in the midst of our confidence in the people and the Government that revolution is not so impossible as it seemed twenty years ago. Nor is it so easy to laugh down those who consider the revolutionary tendencies of the Congressional majority matter for serious consideration. In 1860 we only knew from the history of other nations the antecedent condition of revolutions; we know them now from our own. It is not the impulse of timidity, but the dictate of prudence, to compare those conditions with the present.

The same party—as a party, unrepentant and unchanged—it reatens now as then the National peace. Now as then its violent and revolutionary elements, though opposed by the more orderly and respectable, make upon vociferation and energy and persistence whatever they lack in numbers, and step by step carry their points, drawing after them nearly all the conservative and patriotic but weak men in the party. It was the howling dervishes of Democracy who set on foot the rebellion in 1861; it is the same class that to-day have dragged the party well along on the way to revolution. Only a few weeks ago the Democratic members of Congress permitted themselves to be put on record, in a series of utterances which have not been to any extent denied as opposed to the entire purpose and plan which they have since disclosed in the Potter investigation. That seemed sufficient proof that no disturbance of the existing order is intended. But is it forgotten how, in 1860, when the plans for the rebellion were proceeding and almost perfected, we had the same sort of testimony, protesting loyalty to the Union and opposition to secession, from men who in a few months were in arms against the Government! Not but that they were honest in their professions; they were a few weeks ago and are now. But the thing to be remembered is that, above all things, they are Democrats and partisans. They were dragged into secession and rebellion; they are now being dragged into what may or may not turn out to be a second attempt at the same experiment. In 1861, when they struck the first blow against the Union, it was found, almost too late, that they had prepared beforehand for the event by crippling the Government in every department essential to its defence, especially in the Army and Navy. If any one doubts that the present conspiracy—for that we deem to be the precise definition of the movement—runs on all fours with the last Democratic attempt to overthrow the Government, let him read the record of the Congress and its efforts to cut down and impair the efficiency of the Army and Navy. In these and other particulars which will occur to every reflecting man who has watched the current of recent political events, there is enough to awaken serious attention, if not to excite alarm.

History does not, in precise terms, repeat itself, it is true; but political parties like this, which calls itself Democratic, with but one absorbing passion—the greed of office and lust for power—reckless in their methods, destructive in their purposes, unforgiving in their hatreds, and incapable of gratitude—do often repeat, in distinct succession, their processes. It seems early to find these men attempting over again the bloody experiment in which they so lately failed. The absurdity of it is so apparent that our calm, and collected friends may be pardoned for laughing at those who suspect them of it. And yet it by no means follows that because the thing itself is so absurd, it is equally absurd to think them capable of it. For we believe it to be a matter of historical record that this party has not for many years done or attempted anything that was not in greater or less degree absurd. And the Tribune is quite willing to risk criticism upon the expression of its firm conviction that the Democratic party means to incite revolution. The course it has adopted bears no other logical interpretation, and the party itself significantly refuses to disclaim the purpose. And the only way to escape the mischief they aim at is to take away their power to accomplish it. That must be done at the polls.

RESPONSIBILITY FOR LOSING BANK MANAGEMENT—ATTEMPT TO CHARGE DIRECTORS WITH LIABILITY. Stockholders, representing upward of 100 shares of stock of the defunct Wallkill National Bank of Middletown, have commenced suits against certain Directors to recover for loss of stock and interest since the last div dend in July, 1872, and the assessments of 50 per cent. collected by the Comptroller to pay depositors and creditors. The present recovery is on the ground that the Directors were liable by reason of negligence in not personally supervising the management of the bank whereby losses would have been prevented, instead of intrusting the management to the President and cashier who ruined it. The defendants will deny liability under law, and plead that they exercised all reasonable care. Other suits will follow. These are the first cases under the National Banking law where stockholders have sued Directors to recover losses on stock. The beginning of the commencement of the suits by the daily press this evening causes considerable commotion.—N. Y. Journal of Commerce.

The Maine Greenback movement is beginning to grow flabby already with loss of wind. About the only respectable public men whose names have been connected with it, have declared that they do not sympathize with it, and that their names have been used without authority. This is likely to indicate the final collapse of the whole movement. Party lines are to be so rigid this fall that new and unnecessary organizations will get little sympathy from the people.—Tribune.

The Springfield (Ill.) Register (Dem.) predicts that no Democrat will be elected to Congress from Illinois this fall who commits himself to the doctrine that Congress has power, in time of peace, to make Treasury notes a legal tender for private debts, or that will declare himself in favor of the Southern Pacific Railroad job. Moreover, that no such Democrat will be nominated.

The Post wants Blaine to go with Grant on the retired list. Yes, so does every ex-Confederate who has a clear judgment. Not to blame, either. The rebel march to power would be over so much easier. But they have two very hard men to retire. The loyal people appear to have a better opinion of them than the rebels do. They are wanted for future emergencies.—Boston Traveller.

Grace Greenwood says in a recent letter "We have had no notable sensation, except it be an odd on dit that Mr. Robert Ingersoll had joined the Methodist Church and President Hayes the Republican party."

A prominent Democrat of the House said to-day: "We will have Hayes out in six months, or have rebellion."—Washington Special to Pittsburg Commercial Gazette.

NOTICES OF THE PRESS.

The veteran Magazine, which long ago outgrew its original limits of the New Monthly Magazine, has not in the least abated the popularity it won at the outset, but has added to it in many ways, and less publicly, in the character of the illustrations, in the supervision of the publishers and the tact and wisdom of its editors. For whatever is best and most readable in the literature of travel, discovery, and fashion, the average reader of to-day looks to Harper's Magazine, just as confidently as did the reader of a quarter of a century ago. There is to be found valuable variety of contents and the same freshness and suggestiveness in the editorial department now as then.—Boston Journal.

DOMESTIC NEWS.

FORTY-FIFTH CONGRESS—Second Session.

Senate.

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 29.

The President announced as a conference committee on the bill providing a permanent government for the District of Columbia Messrs. Dorsey, Ingalls and Barnum.

Mr. Bamin gave notice that as soon as the Senate should dispose of the Legislative Appropriation bill he would call up the bill from the Committee on Foreign Relations in regard to the payment of the Fishery Awards. He said that he must recede from consideration of Congress at the present session and thus avoid the necessity of an extra session.

Mr. Sargent, five minutes before the expiration of the morning hour, moved to take up the House bill to remove the legal disabilities of women to practice in the Courts of the United States, but several Senators opposed the motion on account of want of time to consider the bill, as the Legislative Appropriation bill would come up at the expiration of the morning hour. The motion was defeated by a tie vote—29 yeas, 29 nays.

Mr. Sargent said the vote was encouraging and he would submit a motion at an early day.

Mr. Cole introduced a joint resolution authorizing the Secretary of War to turn over to Governor Hubbard of Texas such tents, poles and pins as he may require for the use of Volunteers of the State at their summer encampment. Referred to Committee on Military Affairs.

Several private bills were passed.

To-morrow being Decoration Day, on motion of Mr. Anthony, it was ordered that when the Senate adjourn it be to meet Friday.

The Senate proceeded with the Legislative Appropriation bills.

Mr. Windom, Chairman of the Appropriation Committee, said the total estimates for the Legislative, Judicial and Executive Departments of the Government for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1879, were $16,391,617 91. The total amount appropriated for the current fiscal year is $15,537,833 30, to that has been added by various deficiency bills $340,745.47 making a total of $17,878,578.77 for 1878. The total amount appropriated by the bill now before the Senate as it came from the Committee on Appropriations was $16,564,942 being $913,884.77 less than the appropriations for the current year. If there were any objection to the bill it was probably on account of the appropriations being too large.

House.

Immediately after the reading of the Journal Mr. Wood called up the Senate adjournment resolution, and moved to make it a matter for consideration until Saturday, June 8th, yeas and nays were ordered. There being a number of vacant seats on the Democratic side, Mr. Reagan asked if it were in order to have a call of the House to which the Speaker replied that he thought there was a quorum and Mr. Wood, for the purpose of ascertaining whether a quorum was present, moved that the House adjourn.

Mr. Hale—Does the gentleman want to filibuster on his own motion?

Mr. Wood—No sir, but I want a fair and square vote on the proposition. The yeas and nays being taken on the motion to adjourn it was defeated.

A vote was then taken on the motion to postpone consideration of the resolution for final adjournment until June 8th, and it was defeated yeas 124, nays 132. This was a party vote with the exception of Aiken, Bell, Bland, Buck, Buckner, Cutler, Fuller, Handenberg, Landers, Morgan, Morse, Prudonme, Sims and Willis of New York, who voted with the Republicans and three Greenback members, Haskell, Phillips and Ryan, who voted with the Democrats. Kelley stated that he was paired with McKinley of Ohio, or he would vote in the affirmative.

Mr. Wood then moved to lay the Senate resolution on the table, but it was rejected, yeas 125, nays 131.

This vote was the same as the preceding one with the exception of Buckner and Bland, who voted with their political associates.

The Senate resolution for final adjournment was defeated yeas 127 nays 131. The Democrats who changed their votes on the last vote and wheeled into party line were Bell of Ga., Handenburg of N. J., and Landers of Conn.

Mr. Wood moved to make the date of adjournment the 24th of June.

Mr. Clymer moved to make it the 17th. Mr. Clymer's amendment had a large majority on standing vote and yeas the and nays were ordered.

The vote stood yeas 104 nays 93, for final adjournment on the 17th of June, and the Senate resolution was then amended.

Mr. Bushard called up the bill to amend the Internal Revenue laws and the House proceeded to its consideration in Committee of the Whole. The bill covers 49 printed pages and merely makes changes in the duties of officers and in the technical operation of the Internal Revenue laws. After considering three pages it went over without further action.

Mr. Bragg introduced a bill to secure the most efficient arms for the use of the regular army and militia. Referred.

The House at 4.40 took a recess until 7.30; the evening session to be for debate only. When the House adjourns to-night it will be to meet Friday.

...LEXANDER H. STEVENS' LETTER.

HIS VIEW OF POTTER'S RESOLUTION

"A Contemptible Farce, or A Horrible Tragedy."

NEW YORK, May 29. A. H. Stephens in a long letter denies having acted in connection with the Republicans as intimated in Potter's letter, but says he sent letters to Potter and his colleague, Mr. Candler, protesting against the adoption of Potter's resolution on the ground that it was unfair and unjust, and if there was to be any investigating the people would demand that it should cover all the alleged frauds, and that any other course would disintegrate the Democratic and solidify the Republican party. Stephens says he is constitutionally opposed to any investigation with a view to impeach or assail the title of President Hayes and shows the action of Congress in Congress, that such is the real motive of the proposed investigation. He concludes as follows:

"I look upon the whole of the proceeding, connected as it was, and conducted as it has been, as most unwise, most unfortunate and most mischievous. Its effect will be to disturb the peace, harmony and quiet of this country. Neither Potter nor any body else can prevent it, and I say to him respectfully, that nothing short of an immediate general and firm concert of action of the law and order abiding people of all parties, Republicans and Democrats, throughout the Union in reprobation of this investigation proceeding can further with a view to disturb the Presidential title, said as announced by the Pennsylvania Democracy in their convention a few days ago, can arrest the most fearful consequences. Those who have, though innocently, sowed the wind will reap the whirlwind. My own opinion is, as I have repeatedly said, this affair will prove in its end either a contemptible farce or a horrible tragedy. Whether it will lead to the Mexicanization of our federal Republic, the result must show. But I can at all soft words instilling it into mind of the people of it is country the idea that Hayes can be peacefully unseated by Congress, are as delusive and as grateful as the whisperings of fo great arch fiend in the shape of a toad in the ear of Eve, from which sprung all our woes."

NEW YORK STATE.

The Coal Trade.

NEW YORK, May 29. Fifty thousand tons of Lackawanna coal to-day brought 15 cents a ton higher than at last month's sale. Prices to-day were 6000 tons steamboat 3 42½; 10,000 tons grate, 3 45; 10,000 tons egg opened at 3 60; fell to 3 57½ and closed 3 55; 20,000 tons stove sold quickly at 3 65; 3000 tons chestnut at 3 35.

THE BLACK HILLS.

Protection From Indians.

DEADWOOD, May 29. Col. Sheridan of General Phil Sheridan's staff arrived last evening. He comes for the purpose of selecting suitable locations for encampments for soldiers now en route to the hills. Three camps will be established, one in the vicinity of Bear Butte 10 miles from Deadwood, another in the vicinity of Rapid city 40 miles away, and a third on the Little Missouri river 80 or 90 miles away. It is thought these encampments in connection with the troops at Fort McPherson will afford sufficient protection from Indians for the Black Hills towns and mines during the summer.

Talk About a Congress.

THE SEVERAL REPRESENTATIVES

Russian Cruisers—The Porte's Circular.

NEW YORK, May 29. Cable specials say the Russian Imperial Bank has advanced to the Moscow "Cruiser Committee" a fund of 2,000,000 roubles free of interest to fit out cruisers. The Porte is preparing a circular to the Powers giving a detailed history of the San Stefano treaty and negotiations promising extensive reforms in Turkey.

Invitations to the Congress.

BERLIN, May 29. Formal invitations to attend the Congress will be issued as soon as all the Powers have answered the informal communications in regard to the date and other particulars.

Probabilities of a Peaceful Settlement.

NEW YORK, May 29. A London special to the Telegram says Russia and England have accepted invitations to a Congress at Berlin. An attempt is being made to arrange for two series of conferences, the first a military convention in which simultaneous withdrawal of both Russian and British forces will be the subject of debate and the other to behold in the fall, for the purpose of revising all existing treaties. The hopes that there will be all conferences are high, but shrewd observers and those best informed in political circles think that the probabilities of definite settlement are on the decline.

Representatives to the Congress.

A Berlin despatch says that Bismark has signed the invitation to the powers to attend the Congress which will probably be convened Tuesday, June 11th. The following representatives have been nominated: Russia, Count Schouvaloff; England, Lord Beaconsfield; Austria, Count Andrassy and Baron Haymerle; France, M. Waddington, and Greece, if admitted, Sir Peter Armeni.

No Doubt of a Congress.

LONDON, May 29. It is stated that Count Schouvaloff had a long interview with Lord Salisbury yesterday, at which he submitted Russia's answer to points raised by England touching the Congress and that final understanding reached during the week's negotiations. No doubt is expressed in any quarter about the assembling of Congress. The only unpleasant feature of the morning news is in the direction of Austria, for although Count Andrassy has been all along in favor of European settlement in the Congress his utterances now and Austrian preparations are creating uneasiness.

The Russian Unofficial Press Recommend Peace.

The St. Petersburg unofficial Press is still incredulous about peace and points out that while Austria and Russia were making negotiations to that end, England brought troops from India. Now England accepts the Congress, and Austria is making a demonstration threatening to Russia. These feelings are not entirely unwarranted even if judged by some of the points of Andrassy's speech to the delegations yesterday. He said that certain military preparations were necessary because, even if the Congress led to an European understanding, complications might afterwards arise imperilling Austria's particular interests.

The Semi-Official Press.

ST. PETERSBURG, May 29. The semi-official journal, De St. Petersburg, expresses satisfaction at the progress made toward the assembling of the Congress and the establishment of an understanding, and adds that although in view of the existence of a war party in Constantinople, Pesth and London, some reserve is still necessary, yet every day tends to promote a peaceful settlement.

REVOLT IN MEXICO.

A FIGHT AT SANTA FE.

In Favor of Lerdo.

NEW YORK, May 29. A San Antonio despatch says it is reported that also at 800 revolutionists are just outside New Laredo on the right bank of the Rio Grande in Mexico, preparing to attack the place. Piedras Negrass, attending to Mexican officials, is also in danger. This is probably the beginning of the expected revolution in favor of Lerdo, against the Government. Escobedo is near New Leon.

A La Plata letter says that a revolution broke out in the city of Santa Fe, the 14th ult. Fighting was going on that night and the next day. The soldiers of the Government being armed with American repeating rifles, repelled the assaults of the revolutionists, with 21 killed and 45 revolutionists wounded and several captured. Governor Orlonde behaved most cowardly, hiding himself behind the parapet of a church. After his soldiers were successful he had the insurgent dead put into a common ditch, refusing to allow their relatives to bury them. Up to the date of the letter the Governor's forces held Santa Fe and Rosario, but in the country the insurgents hold the supremacy, and Col. Cordova was forced to abandon the field, and petitioned urgently for reinforcements.

Coronda was taken by the insurgents after a fight in which the Government garrison was forced to surrender, the commander killed. The insurgents number among its supporters nearly all the best families of the province. Even in the city of Santa Fe the attitude of its abettors is bold and unequivocal, and they wear the distinguishing blue and white scarf, while the supporters of the Government sport a bright scarlet one.

Yesterday Barnum's advertising crew erected seven hundred feet of bill boards, twelve feet high, which are covered with gay-colored posters.

Messrs. Lowney & Baker, the fashionable tailors, have received a fine line of spring and summer goods, which they will be pleased to show the public.

Quite a number of new sleepers have been laid along the line of the E. & N. A. Railway and the track is now in excellent condition between this city and Oldtown.

A small sum of money was lost last evening on Broadway, between Penobscot and State streets. The finder will confer a favor by leaving the same at this office.

Looking the boys up in the station house had the desired effect, and yesterday the attendance at the Hancock street school was larger than it has been for some time.

The Maine Press Association will make their annual summer excursion this year to Quebec and the Saguenay, via the White Mountains, where they will spend one day, early in July.

An exchange says: "The most fashionable milk cart in this vicinity has landscapes in oil colors on the cloth sides, picturing herds of cows in shady pastures, without any pump room about."

The schooner Addie G. Bryant arrived in this port yesterday morning, and her flags were seen at half mast, out of respect to the decease of Miss Bryant, daughter of Chas. D. Bryant Esq., for whom the vessel was named.

A correspondent at Greenville under date of the 23th inst., writes: The old steamer "Fairy of the Lake," Capt. Louis Gil., arrived at Greenville to-day, having successfully completed her towing engagement for the season. The other steamers are expected this week.

A despatch from Provincetown says that the schooner Frank Herbert of Deanyville, which was in collision with the schooner Georgia, of Bangor, in April last off Cape Cod, was sold at auction yesterday, by order of the United States Court, to A. P. Veazie & Co., of this city, for $830.

Next Saturday morning at ten o'clock Edward Learth will sell several carriages and harnesses at auction in West Market Square. At two o'clock in the afternoon he will sell on the premises, a house on Washington street, now occupied by Thos. Gallagan. The house is nearly new and in good order.

A correspondent at Milo writes: "Burglars have been at work in La Grange. The next night after they visited Mr. Freeman's house in Milo, they went into Mr. Wm. Hanton's and John Beaton's in La Grange. They seem to want only money and provisions. They got about twenty dollars in money from the two Hantons. They probably followed the railroad from Milo.

Last evening Prof. Parks gave an exhibition of his skill on a tight rope stretched across East Market Square. He performed several difficult feats which will be repeated to-day. During the exhibition he announced that before going on with the performance he should take up a collection, and it was a noticeable fact that just at the time a large number of those present had business which needed their immediate attention.

The committee who have the Handel excursion in charge received a letter from the proprietor of the Crawford House at the White Mountains, informing them that as the convention of School Teachers meet on the 9th—12th of July, he would be unable to accommodate the excursion party at that time. The committee have not yet decided whether they will postpone the excursion or go to some other house at the same place.

Yesterday morning the yacht "Sport" from Bucksport, arrived in this city with the following named gentlemen from that town: Capt. E. P. Emerson, Capt. S. A. Cobb, Capt. Wm. B. Pierce, Capt. S. B. Swasey, and Messrs. C. B. Veazie, J. H. Douglass, Ed. Beazley and Abner Brown. The party are up here on a pleasure trip and will probably remain until Saturday afternoon. Quite a number of visitors were on board yesterday afternoon.

CALAIS, is correspondent writes: Capt. Doyle of schooner William Duren of Calais, reports a man lost overboard about ten miles off Cape Ort. It was quite misty and blowing some at the time, and the captain does not know how the accident occurred, as none of the crew saw the man at the time. The man's name was Martin Farnham and belonged at Newcastle, N. B., and was 28 years old. The captain speaks in the highest terms of Farnham as a sailor.

Mr. Dennis O'Neal, the popular mail driver in this city met with an accident yesterday which will probably keep him from his duties for some time. He was backing his mail cart into the stable, and as he was ascending ground he placed his right hand over the end of the pole in order to get a firm hold, when the carriage pushed him down the hill and the pole coming in contact with one of the doors bruised three of his fingers badly, and it is feared that he may lose one of them.

THE EXHIBITION of the Art rooms continues to attract all interested in the fine arts, as well as many others who have not given the subject any special thought, but who at all times like to see fine works of art. The number of good paintings is far greater than one would expect from such an exhibition. Many hastily written report we omitted one number on its catalogue which attracts considerable attention, the "Young Augustus" (model in clay) by Abner Taylor. It is only recently that Mr. Taylor has commenced his kind of work, and he surely exhibits great genius and taste, and we congratulate him on the success of this effort.

A NARROW ESCAPE FROM A WATERY GRAVE. Yesterday a little girl some twelve years old came very near being drowned in the vicinity of James A Walker & Co's., lumber dock. She was playing about the docks when she accidently fell into the river and but for the heroic actions of a man by the name of John Gralagan, Messrs. Walker & Co's dockman, she would have drowned. Several other men were standing near but before they could make up their minds how to act, Mr. Gralagan, who was some distance from the place, threw off his coat and running to the water plunged in, and brought the little girl to the shore. She was almost lifeless, and bodyfassed from her mouth, but after considerable effort she was revived.

BARNUM'S ADVERTISING CAR, a description of which was given in these columns yesterday morning, was visited by a large number of people yesterday at the E. & N. A. Railway yard on Exchange street. At 11 45 A. M. it was attached to the Old-town accommodation train and run up as far as Milford. Quite a number of people were out at the various stations to see the car and as shown it attracted considerable attention. The car is a perfect model for beauty and convenience, and runs very smoothly. It returned to this city on the 2 45 P. M. train. Conductor F. A. Keeler is very courteous to the visitors and takes pleasure in showing them over the car. This morning it will go to Dexter. Mr. Chas. Gaylor the efficient and popular press agent goes as far as Newport on the car and then will proceed to Portland. The circus will open on the Lime street lot.

THE AUGUSTA MURDERER. The Journal says: "Jason Sorlner, the murderer, still remains in his cell in Kennebec jail, not mingling with other prisoners or carrying on so. He is quite misanthropic and not at all talkative. He behaves well to his keepers, but shows some of his ugly points to persons who have looked in upon him. He reads some reads with great pleasure and apparent gratification the illustrated articles in a certain newspaper, where scenes are depicted scenes of the tragedy. The murderer exhibited not the slightest feeling as he looked upon them, simply remarking that they were quite correct and life-like. Yesterday one of Sorlner's former neighbors interviewed him in his cell, and did not find him at all sorrowful over what had happened, indeed, he has shown but little feeling during his incarceration. He says he is sick of staying there, and confident of being set free. He said he didn't feel as though he had done anything wrong, as he didn't know what he was about during the murderous transactions."

A SWINDLER. The St. John's Globe says: "On Thursday evening a man arrived at the Waverley House St. John registered his name as "G. O. Sinclair, Louisville, Ky.," and asked for a room. He wanted the best room in the house, as he thought he "would meet his wife in the city." He went out during the night, and did not occupy his room at all. On Friday he was seen at the horse races in questionable company. On Saturday he went about town purchasing goods, and giving in payment drafts on the Bank of New Brunswick, payable to the order of Frank Chipman. At J. E. Guild ings's dry goods store corner of Union and Sydney streets, he made heavy purchases and presented a $75 Bank of New Brunswick draft in payment. Mr. Golding took off to find out how Frank Chipman stood. Having learned that "Mr. Chipman" had no account, the draft was declined. Sinclair or Chipman afterwards bought a watch from Mr. Prince with one of these bogus drafts, but he had to return the article when the draft was discovered. Having incurred a bill with Mr. David McConnell for horse hire, Chipman gave him one of these valueless drafts. Chipman's most successful operation appears to have been in Fairville where he purchased a case of champagne from Mr. Joseph Murphy, and gave a $25 draft in payment. This draft was presented at the Bank yesterday, and of course, was declined. On Saturday morning, Sinclair or Chipman concluded that he would take a drive instead of going to church, and so he presented himself at the Waverley House stables, and engaged a horse and carriage, stating that he would probably return in the evening. As he had not returned yesterday morning telegrams were sent in all directions, and it was ascertained that he had stopped at St. George, left the team there, hired another team, drove to St. Stephens, and crossed into Calais, beyond which place his adventures are unknown."

THE ORATOR OF THE DAY, General Thomas W. Hyde of Bath, arrived on the train last evening and will be the guest of W. R. Dennett, Esq., and wife, the latter being the General's cousin. A very pleasant reception was given in honor of Gen. Hyde during the evening at Mr. Dennett's residence on Grove street, where a number of the General's personal acquaintances and other prominent citizens with their ladies, were invited to meet him. The occasion proved a very agreeable one in all respects.

The gallant Maine soldier who is to speak for his fallen comrades to-day, enlisted in August, 1861, having but recently graduated from Bowdoin College, was chosen Captain of Company D, Seventh Maine Regiment, and before the departure of the regiment from the State was elected and commissioned Major. Our present Governor Connor, was Lieut-Colonel of the same regiment. Although quite young, Major Hyde's ability was speedily demonstrated, and in the march of the Sixth Corps to relieve Pope, he commanded the regiment, as also at the battle of South Mountain and Antietam, when his immediate superior officers were on detached service. After recruiting the heavily decimated ranks of the regiment, Maj. Hyde conducted the first battalion to the field in the Spring of 1863, when he was appointed Inspector General of the left grand division of the Army of the Potomac, and subsequently as Aide and Provost Marshal on the Staff of Gen. Sedgwick. Participating actively in the storming of St. Mary's and Salem Heights, he was a third time recommended for brevet rank and designated to present the captured flags to General Hooker. With General Sedgwick he went through the desperate battles of the Wilderness Campaign, and was by Sedgwick's side when he fell in the woods of Spottsylvania. He was commissioned Lieutenant-Colonel in November, 1863, and assigned by General Wright to command of a special brigade of cavalry, participating in the battles on the North and South Anne, Cold Harbor and before Petersburg. At the expiration of its term of service Col. Hyde took command of the regiment and returned home with it. In October, 1864, he was commissioned Colonel of the 31st Me. Veteran Volunteers, but on reaching the front was immediately given command of the 3d Brigade, 2d Division, 6th Army Corps, which he held during the fighting of the last year of the war, and led with his brigade the famous "wedge" assault of the 6th Corps on the morning of the 2d of April, which resulted in the fall of Richmond. Following in pursuit of Lee, Col. Hyde was present at his surrender, and when the 6th Corps was sent against Johnston, he led the entry into Danville of which he was appointed Military Governor, and recommended, for promotion. In July, 1865, he was brevetted Brigadier General for "conspicuous gallantry before Petersburg."

At the close of the war General Hyde devoted himself to business pursuits, and has built up an important iron manufacturing establishment in Bath. In 1875 he was elected State Senator for Sagadahoc County, and reelected in 1876 and 1877 during both of which years he occupied the responsible position of President of the Senate, being chosen thereto by a very complimentary vote.

General Hyde is one of the most modest, as he was one of the most meritorious of our Maine soldiers, and he will doubtless deprecate this public reference to his public career; but we have felt it to be appropriate to the occasion to cite briefly from the record the evidence of the worthy commradeship of the orator, with the fallen heroes to whose patriotic devotion he is to pay a comrade's tribute on this Memorial Day.

Decision in Law.

The following decision in law has been received by James H. Burgess, Esq., Clerk of the Eastern Law District:

PENOBSCOT COUNTY CASE.

Frederick M. Laughton vs. Cushman E. Harden. "Demurrer overruled. Bill sustained as far as the land levied upon is concerned."

Excerpt:—Where a creditor levies upon the real estate which his debtor has conveyed to another in fraud of creditors, and then seeks by a bill in equity to obtain from the grantee a release of his title to the premises levied upon, the debtor need not be made a party to the bill.

To so much of the bill as may direct or affect real estate fraudulently conveyed by the debtor, and not levied upon by the creditor, the debtor would be a necessary and indispensable party.

It is a well established maxim of equity, that, if any part of a bill is good and entitles the complainant to relief, a demurrer to the whole bill cannot be sustained. Where the want of parties to a bill in equity is merely a formal defect, the demurrer must be special to reach the defect. But where the absence of the omitted parties are such as to prevent any decree from affecting the relief sought for, the objection may be taken upon general as well as special demurrer, or at the hearing of the arguments, or even when the decree is to be made; and the objection may be started by the court itself, in its candour, whenever the necessities of the case require it.

A voluntary conveyance from father to son, made by the grantor with intent to defraud his subsequent creditors, is void as to such creditors, without either allegation or proof that the grantee participated in the intent when he received or accepted the deed. In such case the intent of the grantor alone determines the validity of the conveyance.

MEMORIAL DAY
MAY 30TH.
M. E. M.

With lingering step and yearning backward glance,
Dear, tender hearted May slips out of sight,
But ere to June her sceptre she resigns,
She sleeps and whispers in the silent night,
Soft words of love and longing to the buds
Lying concealed as fragrant, snowy beds;
They feel her presence, and for love of her
Wake suddenly from sleep and raise their heads.

At earliest dawn a miracle is wrought:
The hillsides are ablaze with columbine,
The meadows starred with violets blue and white,
And frail anemones. "All these are mine!"
She sings. "Yet bloom for me in colors gay,
Such as our soldiers loved,—the red, the blue,
And white! Go, and make beauteous the morning
Through all the land, where sleep our heroes true."

Now, waving her fair hand in mute farewell,
Dear, tender-hearted May, with noiseless tread
And wistful, loving eyes, glides out of sight,
While on our soldiers' graves her last sweet smile is shed!

ST. NICHOLAS.

SCRIBNER'S ILLUSTRATED MAGAZINE FOR

GIRLS AND BOYS.

The LONDON ACADEMY, of December 22nd, 1877, says: "ST. NICHOLAS be welcome the finest strong [illegible] literature that we have. [illegible] We have no hesitation in saying that both in the letter-press and in the pictures it is America's magazine for boys and girls.

In St. NICHOLAS for December, the Holiday Christmas Number, was begun a charming new

Serial Story by Miss Alcott

"Under the Lilacs," illustrated by MARY HALLOCK FOOTE, to continue during the year. This same Christmas number, of which one hundred thousand copies were printed, contained the opening chapters of

for boys, "Tower-Mountain," by GUSTAVUS FOX NEILSTEEN, also poems by LONGFELLOW and BRYANT, a portrait of Miss Alcott, half a dozen short stories, pictures, poems, etc., etc. It is the handsomest number of a child's magazine ever issued.

THE NEW YORK TRIBUNE says:

"ST. NICHOLAS has a list of contributors such as no other child's magazine, or few publications of any sort, in the world can boast. It has caused the best writers in America to turn their attention to the work of giving delight and imparting culture to children. In the avalanche of immoral literature that threatens the children some saving, vitally wholesome, and really attractive magazine is required for them, and St. NICHOLAS has reached a higher platform, and commands for this purpose wider resources in art and letters, than any of its predecessors or contemporaries."

ST. NICHOLAS FOR 1878.

Besides the SERIAL STORIES above announced, will have a short, serial story by the author of "The Schonberg-Cotta Family;" and THREE SPLENDID SERIALS FOR BOYS, one of which "DRIFTED INTO PORT," by EDWIN HODDER, an English writer, will begin in March. "Around the World in a Yacht, Boys!" has been promised by a brilliant writer, now on the tour of the world in his own yacht. The very best contributions, by the daughter of the famous Peter Parley, and a Letter to Young Americans by GEORGE MACDONALD.

The "HOW" Series of instructive papers, by various authors, will tell HOW to build your own boats; HOW they mine coal; HOW to go or go yourself to a fire; HOW to be an agreeable guest; HOW to entertain company; HOW to be a carpenter; HOW to make an ice-boat; HOW to build a house; How India rubber is gathered; HOW matches are made; HOW to be a Parlor Magician; HOW money is made; HOW mackerel are caught; HOW they haul the Atlantic cable; HOW they mine in California; HOW they work in the tea-country; etc. There will be also a series of stories and sketches of Foreign Life, such as "Old Nicolai" (a Russian story), "A Day among the Welsh Castles," "Easter in Germany," "The Indians of the Amazon," "How Kitty was lost in a Turkish Bazar," "Easter Monteziuma" (a Mexican story), "Hanse, the Lapp Maiden," and many others.

TRAVEL AND ADVENTURE,

"Jack-in-the-Pulpit," "Young contributors' Department," "Letter-Box," "Riddle Box," and "For Very Little Folks," will be continued.
